Paella pan, that is. Jeff Brooke gave his its inaugural trial at the meeting he and his significant other Karen hosted last month. If you've never tried this marvelous Spanish dish you're missing out. It's a rice based concoction that includes sausage, chicken, shrimp and clams. Jeff can be proud of his effort, as all agreed that it was mighty tasty.

The theme for the evening was "Firefest" and as you would guess there were several blazes going including the grill on which Jeff prepared his masterpiece. As always there were some fine home made libations on hand including a delightful ginger-lemon cider provided by our host. For the evening's entertainment several of the guests enjoyed watching Albert Pujols' slugfest during game 5 of the world series!

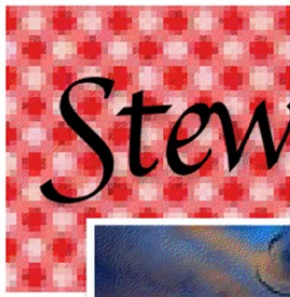

Thanks again to Jeff & Karen for providing the venue for another WZZ outing, and to their fine (if somewhat noisy) guard goose!

Stews & Brews

Got a hearty, winter warmer stew you'd like to share with the WZZ hordes? You'll get your chance when Will Lumpkin and Tamra Hopkins host their "Stews & Brews" meeting on the 19th of this month. Salads, side dishes and desserts are welcome as well, and of course your favorite potent potable. If you have any questions, need directions or just want to be a nuisance, call Will at 343-2939. See you there!
