

Washoe Zephyr Zymurgists

December 2013

NOVEMBER MEETING

Jazz Aldrich opened up Tanks and Taps to a very large group of Washoe Zephyr Zymurgists who celebrated the successful conclusion of the first Nevada State Homebrew Competition.

There was an especially large representation of ladies at this meeting. 15 by our count! And the food! Is the food always better when the women come?

Several people raved about a noodle salad. Turns out it was the work of Jill. Leigh Miller got the recipe:

4 pkg. Ramen, cooked, drained and refrigerated to cool

In a separate bowl, mix  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup of sesame oil and 5 tablespoons of either balsamic or rice vinegar, 5 tablespoons of sugar. Blend and mix with cooled noodles.

Add radish, green onion and walnuts (chopped).

Many WZZ kids were awarded their medals for brews from the competition. And the leftover entries were there for consumption!

Organizer extraordinaire Kirk Howell was there to decipher the bottle cap codes from the competition.

Next Competition

Get brewing for the next competition, the Great Basin Brewoff. This is the one where the Best-of-Show winner is brewed at Great Basin Brewery and entered in the Pro-Am Competition.

Fuggles The Red Dog is an Angel

This newsletter is a couple days late, as Rob & Elaine had the sad duty of putting Fuggles to rest. We are still a little numb from the sudden onset of her illness. The dog cookie jar at the shop will still be filled. So bring your favorite four-legged friend by to have a Wet Noses (organic) treat in Fuggles' memory.
